

Second conditional

Table of Contents

- Introduction →
- Grammar structure →
- Punctuation →
- Examples →
- Exercises →

Grammar Structure

It is important to take into account that in conditionals; it is usual to see he, she and it with "were" instead of "was"

e.g. If he were friendly, we would be good friends

Punctuation.

- The use of a comma is mandatory when the if clause is at the beginning.

If I were in France, I would visit the Eiffel tower

- When the if clause is at the end of the sentence, we do not use comma.

I would visit the Eiffel tower if I were in France

Examples

- If she had a lot of money, she could buy a new apartment.
- They would be happy if they won the lottery
- If he were president, he might reduce taxes

Examples of negative form

- If I did not have homework, I could visit my friend's house
- I would not be angry if you had arrived early

Questions

- In questions we can ask about assumptions or imaginary situations.

- ☐ If you were a famous person ,
who would you be?

- ☐ If you could live in other country.
Where would you live?

Complete the Conditional Sentences Type II.

1. If he .....tried.....(try) harder, he.....would reach.....(reach) his goals.

2. I .....would buy.....(buy) these shoes if they .....fit.....(fit) .

3. It .....would not surprise.....(surprise / not) me if he .....did not know.....(know / not) the answer.

If you could live anywhere,
where would you live?

If you found a suitcase full of $1,000,000, what would you do?

Homework

Coursebook page 77 exercise
6,7,11

Thank You
For Your Attention